PROFILE

Born on April 4, 2002, in Rožňava, Slovakia. Since childhood, I have been interested in various things, from art and philosophy to natural science. I had problem with publishing my postmodern-modern novel so In this regard I initiated the artistic project Artediem.cz, through which I helped about 50 Artists presenting and performing in front of people several times, including at the Svět knihy event in Prague. I am currently concentrating on research in the field of Quantum computing based on fullerenes. Apart from that and science I have great interest in distributed databases, on which I am building business project Stabeon.
